Army and Navy News

Hulu have been making desperate efforts to have established in that city quartermaster and commissary purchasing depots. This is a matter the conclusion of which is not likely to be aided by the neighboring commercial interests. The War Department authorities will shortly establish a quartermaster depot and a commissary depot. This, indeed, has been recommended by the military authorities in San Francisco as a means of facilitating the acquisition and delivery of supplies to the increasing garrison in the Hawaiian Islands. The establishment of the depots will come about in the regular way by reason of military necessity and not merely for the advantage it would be to Honolulu business houses.—Army and Navy Register.

General Edwards, Chief.

General Edwards, of the Bureau of Insular Possessions, will make a trip to Europe in the near future. It is rumored that he will be the next chief of staff of the army.

Novel Contest Today.

National Guardsmen of Hawaii and National Guardsmen of Washington State will have a cable shooting contest today. In brief, the riflemen of the First Regiment, National Guard of Hawaii, will start in at 8 o'clock this morning to make records over the range at Fort Shafter, and the crack riflemen of the signal corps of the Washington State National Guard will do shooting stunts at Seattle. Tonight the results from each range will be cabled across the Pacific.
Captain Winant, of the Hawaiian riflemen, will act at Fort Shafter for the Washington team, to keep tab on the scores, while one of the Washington officers will be designated to keep watch on the Seattle scores.

Captain Whitehead will have charge of the local team today and he feels that the Hawaiians will win the contest.

F. W. Ayer, the advertising agent, at the dinner in Philadelphia in honor of his firm's fortieth anniversary, said that to succeed in advertising required hard work. "The successes in this business are stupendous," he said, "but some folks think that working as Roebottom, of Camden, worked, a man can build up a great advertising fortune. Roebottom was a roofer. He was engaged on a Mickle Street house.
One day, as he was lunching, he was heard to give a yell of pain. 'What's the matter, Roebottom?' a carpenter asked. 'I got a nail in my foot,' the roofer answered. 'Well, why don't you pull it out?' said the carpenter.
'What! In my dinner hour?' yelled Roebottom, reproachfully.

Jacob A. Riis was talking about witty newspaper headlines. "As witty a headline as I know of," said he, "was written by a youth of eighteen in a San Francisco newspaper office. There was a bill up to prohibit the sale of alcoholic drinks within four miles of the University of California, and this bill the youth headed: 'An Act to Promote Pedestrianism Among Our Students.'"

Shortly after a Dover lawyer was admitted to the bar he had a case which was tried before a North Adams justice of the peace, and was opposed by a lawyer whose eloquence attracted a large crowd. The justice was perspiring in the crowded room and evidently fast losing his temper. Finally he drew off his coat and, in the midst of the eloquent address, burst out:
"Mr. Attorney, supposing that you take your seat and let Mr. Dawes speak. I want to thin out this crowd."
